

How does CACFP work?

CACFP reimburses participating centers and day care homes for serving nutritious meals. It is administered at the Federal level by the Food and Nutrition Service (FNS), an agency of the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA).

The State education or health department administers CACFP in most States. State agencies approve sponsoring organizations and independent centers to operate the program on the local level. The State also monitors the program and provides guidance and assistance to ensure requirements are met.

Sponsoring organizations play a critical role in supporting home day care providers and centers through training, technical assistance, and monitoring. All family or group day care homes must come into the program under a sponsoring organization. Several types of organizations are approved by the States to serve as sponsors—community action groups, nonprofit organizations, and churches.

What is CACFP?

CACFP is the Child and Adult Care Food Program, a Federal program that provides healthy meals and snacks to children and adults receiving day care.

Each day more than 2.6 million children and almost 60,000 older adults participate in CACFP. Through CACFP, participants' nutritional needs are supported on a daily basis. The program plays a vital role in improving the quality of day care and making it more affordable for many low-income families.

In addition to day care, CACFP helps make afterschool programs more appealing to at-risk youth. By offering nutritious snacks in programs serving low-income areas, centers can increase participation and know that youth are having a healthy snack.

Homeless children and children from temporarily displaced families can also receive up to three meals each day through shelters that operate the program.

Who is eligible for CACFP meals?

- children age 12 and under,
- migrant children age 15 and younger,
- functionally impaired adult participants or adults age 60 and older enrolled in an adult day care center, and
- youths through age 18 in afterschool programs in needy areas.

What kinds of meals are served?

CACFP facilities follow the meal patterns established by USDA.

- Breakfast consists of a serving of milk, fruit or vegetable, and grains or bread.
- Lunch and dinner require milk, grains or bread, meat or meat alternate, and two different servings of fruits or vegetables.
- Snacks include two different servings of the four components: milk, fruits or vegetables, grains or bread, or meat or meat alternate.

CACFP Facilities

Many different facilities operate CACFP, all sharing the common goal of bringing nutritious meals and snacks to participants.

- Child Care Centers
Licensed or approved public or private nonprofit child care centers, Head Start programs, and some for-profit centers serve meals to large numbers of children.
- Family Day Care Homes
Small groups of children receive nonresidential day care in licensed or approved private homes.
- Afterschool Care Programs
Centers in low-income areas provide free snacks to school-age children and youth.
- Homeless Shelters
Emergency shelters provide residential and food services to homeless children.
- Adult Day Care Centers
Public, private nonprofit, and some for-profit adult day care facilities provide structured, comprehensive services to functionally impaired nonresident adults.
