All States

The school meal programs aim to provide nutritious meals to children during the school day. Children may receive breakfast and lunch at no charge if they are categorically eligible for free meals or if they qualify for free meals based on Federal poverty guidelines. Children who do not qualify for free meals may purchase meals at a subsidized cost, at either the reduced price or paid rate. Sometimes, however, children who do not qualify for free meals would like a breakfast or lunch, but do not have money in their account or in hand to cover the cost of the meal at the time of the meal service.

Overcoming the Unpaid Meal Challenge: Proven Strategies from Our Nation's Schools is a best practice guide designed to support State and local stakeholders working every day to address this issue. Throughout the guide, readers will hear from superintendents, principals, school food service professionals, and others who have shared their own challenges and successes addressing unpaid meal charges. This edition replaces the version released in September 2016, SP 58-2016: 2016 Edition: Overcoming the Unpaid Meal Challenge: Proven Strategies from Our Nation's Schools. Information in this version that is new or significantly revised is highlighted.
